

ABOUT ME

My name is Joanne.
I used to go to Headlands School and now I'm a midwife.

ABOUT MY JOB

I support and educate women and families during and after pregnancy, providing care during childbirth, both in the hospital and community.

I educate not only on how a normal pregnancy develops and what to expect but I have to support women with diet and lifestyle, mental health, domestic abuse and additional needs, working with social services and other multi-disciplinary teams that provide care for pregnant women.

SCHOOL RESULTS

I left Headlands School in 2010 with grades B, C and D at A-Level.

FAVOURITE MEMORIES

I remember having my days organised into lessons, having to get myself to class on time and knowing who would be there with me. My ultimate fave was Mrs Morgan - my dance teacher!

WHAT I DID NEXT

I did a midwifery degree at the University of York.

When I finished my degree I moved to Guildford to work for a year newly qualified before moving back home to work.

MY ADVICE TO STUDENTS

Focus and you'll get where you want to be. It's hard work, takes determination, it's a rollercoaster but it's so worth it in the end.
