

ABOUT ME

My name is Rebecca.
I used to go to Headlands and now I am an actor, author and theatre reviewer.

ABOUT MY JOB

Acting in TV, theatre, music videos, short films, modelling. Audition mainly in Manchester and London. Currently I am auditioning for an exciting TV job and I have booked a modelling job next month in Manchester for an upcoming magazine. Can't say too much though!

I write critical appraisals of plays and musicals for publication in Manchester and London.

For the last 12 months I have been working on finishing my first fiction book, Life Long Lesson ahead of publication in August on Amazon, Kindle, Lulu and some local bookstores in Manchester.

SCHOOL RESULTS

I left Headlands in 2013 with 11 GCSE's A* to D and 3.5 A-Levels A* to B.

FAVOURITE MEMORIES

Performing Arts with Demi and Dance with Mrs Morgan!! I absolutely adore her.

Dance was definitely my biggest achievement at school. I had never danced a step until GCSE. I managed to get a C and then moved up a grade at A Level, getting a B and achieving an A in one of my written exams!

WHAT I DID NEXT

I went to University of Salford and studied a three-year BA(Hons) Drama and Theatre Degree. I also attended ActUpNorth Drama school part time and worked full time hours as a tour guide at Coronation Street during my second and third year.

It was during my second year when I got my first professional acting job in a music video for the Anti-bullying campaign.

Not long after I signed with my first acting agency and I never looked back.

MY ADVICE TO STUDENTS

If anyone is considering a career in the creative industry, you have to really want it. It's not something you can just do on a whim.

It's really hard, there is a lot of rejection, a lot of being out of work. But if it's your passion then I would say every time to just go for it, because when you first get signed or book your first professional acting job, there is not better feeling. It makes the struggle worthwhile.

I think if acting, dancing, writing, anything creative is in your blood, then absolutely commit to it and just go for it because it's not always about the end goal, the journey can be amazing too!

